Sponsorship for migration to Australia

(parent, aged dependent relative, remaining relative, carer)

Form

40

The Department of Home Affairs (the Department) acknowledges that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are the traditional custodians of the Australian land.

Life in Australia – Australian values

The Australian Government encourages people to gain an understanding of Australia, its people and their way of life, before applying for a visa to live in Australia.

This includes understanding that the English language, as the national language, is an important unifying element of Australian society. Australian society is also united through the following shared values:

- respect for the freedom and dignity of the individual;
- freedom of religion (including the freedom not to follow a particular religion), freedom of speech, and freedom of association;
- commitment to the rule of law, which means that all people are subject to the law and should obey it;
- parliamentary democracy whereby our laws are determined by parliaments elected by the people, those laws being paramount and overriding any other inconsistent religious or secular ‘laws’;
- equality of opportunity for all people, regardless of their gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, race, or national or ethnic origin;
- a ‘fair go’ for all that embraces:
 - mutual respect;
 - tolerance;
 - compassion for those in need; and
 - equality of opportunity for all.

The Life in Australia booklet provides more information on the values that Australians share and their way of life. This booklet is available in a wide range of languages and can be obtained from www.homeaffairs.gov.au

Each person that you are sponsoring, who is aged 18 years or over when they lodge their visa application form, is encouraged to read the Life in Australia booklet before signing their application. If they have difficulty, or are unable to read the booklet, they may have the content of it explained to them, including by you. Their application form contains a statement or declaration which they must sign that confirms they understand and will undertake to conduct themselves in accordance with the values of Australian society (as explained in the booklet) and will obey the laws of Australia.

For example, if you are sponsoring:

- a partner (spouse, de facto partner or fiancé), use ImmiAccount to lodge an online ‘Sponsorship for a partner to migrate to Australia’ application.
- a dependent child, an adopted child or an orphan relative, you will need to complete form 40CH Sponsorship for a child to migrate to Australia.

Migration forms for some visa categories are available from the Department’s website www.homeaffairs.gov.au/allforms/ and online Sponsorship applications can be submitted via ImmiAccount at <https://online.immi.gov.au/lusc/login>

Integrity of sponsorship

The Department is committed to maintaining the integrity of the visa and citizenship program. In relation to this application, if you or a member of your family unit:

- provide, or have provided in a previous application, fraudulent documents or false or misleading information (knowingly or not); and/or
- fail to satisfy, or have failed to satisfy in a previous application, the Minister for Home Affairs and Minister for Immigration and Border Protection of your or their identity;

this visa application may be refused and you, and any members of your family unit, may become unable to be granted a visa for specified periods of time, as set out in migration legislation.

If documents are found to be fraudulent or information to be incorrect after the grant of a visa, the visa may subsequently be cancelled.

Who can sponsor?

A sponsor for applicants applying for a Parent category visa, Contributory Parent category visa, Aged Dependent Relative visa, Remaining Relative visa or Carer visa, must be:

- aged 18 years or over; and
- an Australian citizen, Australian permanent resident or an eligible New Zealand citizen; and
- a relative of the applicant or if specified in the eligibility criteria for the relevant visa class, a cohabiting partner of the relative of the applicant; and
- be settled and resident in Australia at the time the application is lodged.

Note: 'Partner' means your spouse or de facto partner. 'Cohabiting partner' means living together as de facto partners. Acceptable evidence of cohabitation would include the relationship status of the sponsor and partner and a current common residential address.

Eligible New Zealand citizens

An eligible New Zealand citizen is a person who is defined as a 'protected Special Category Visa (SCV)' holder under the Social Security Act 1991.

Protected SCV holders are those who arrived in Australia on a New Zealand passport and were:

- in Australia on 26 February 2001;
- in Australia for at least 12 months in the 2 years immediately before 26 February 2001; or
- assessed as protected SCV holders before 26 February 2004.

An eligible New Zealand citizen can:

- sponsor family members for an Australian permanent visa; and
- apply for Australian citizenship.

Other New Zealand citizens

New Zealand citizens may settle and live in Australia. However, any New Zealand citizen who is not an eligible New Zealand citizen cannot sponsor their relatives for migration unless they first obtain Australian citizenship or Australian permanent residence.

Family members included in this sponsorship application

In this sponsorship application you will be asked for information about each member of the visa applicant's family unit (such as their partner or children) even if they do not intend to migrate with the visa applicant. Information about which family members are considered to be a member of the visa applicant's family unit for migration purposes is available by referring to form 1496i Including family members in your application. Form 1496i is available from the Department's website www.homeaffairs.gov.au/allforms/

You should ensure that you read and understand form 1496i before completing this form.

Person under 18 years of age – sponsoring parents for Parent and Contributory Parent visa

There are special provisions that allow for a relative, guardian or community organisation to sponsor a parent on behalf of a person who is under 18 years of age.

The relative, guardian or sponsoring organisation should consider that applicants for a Parent visa are not eligible for any Australian Government entitlements including welfare, housing or Medicare prior to visa grant. Therefore, as sponsor, their obligations would continue throughout the visa processing period and for 2 years after visa grant unless their country of origin has a reciprocal agreement with Australia.

Sponsorship by a relative or guardian on behalf of a person under 18 years of age

For Parent visas, a 'relative' is defined as a close relative or a grandparent, grandchild, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew or step equivalent. A 'close relative' is defined as a spouse, de facto partner, child, brother, sister, parent, step-child, step-parent, step-brother or step-sister.

A 'guardian' can sponsor a parent on behalf of a person under 18 years of age or on behalf of that person's partner if they are also under 18 years. The 'guardian' should be the legal guardian or hold a parenting order from the Family Court.

Such a guardian would have:

- responsibility for the long-term welfare of a person under 18 years;
- all the powers, rights and duties that are vested by law or custom, other than the right to have the daily care and control of the person; and
- the right and responsibility to make decisions concerning the daily care and control of the person who is under 18 years.

The 'relative' or guardian of the person under 18 years of age must have turned 18 years of age and be a settled Australian citizen, Australian permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen.

Sponsorship by a community organisation on behalf of a person under 18 years of age

A 'community organisation' may sponsor a parent on behalf of an applicant who is under 18 years of age regardless of the availability of a relative or guardian to be the sponsor. Types of organisations that might be approved to sponsor include, but are not limited to:

- community-based organisations;
- ethnic organisations; and
- church-based groups with which the minor has affiliation or which are assisting the minor in settling.

The sponsoring organisation should provide evidence that it has:

- a relationship with the person aged under 18 years;
- the authority of its Board or management committee;
- the legal capacity to undertake the sponsorship; and
- evidence of the financial and other resources necessary to support a family for a protracted period.

Limitations on sponsorship

For each visa, there are different eligibility criteria for who can be sponsored and who can sponsor. Please read the eligibility criteria as well as the sponsors tab on the relevant visa web page on the Department's website www.homeaffairs.gov.au

Following is a brief guide.

- A sponsor of a parent or remaining relative visa application can be changed before the visa application is finally determined.
- A sponsor of a carer or aged dependent relative visa application usually cannot be changed once the sponsorship application form is lodged.
- A parent cannot be sponsored under either of the Remaining Relative visa subclasses.
- For parents to be eligible for sponsorship under the Balance of Family Test (BoF), any permanent resident children who are identified as being resident in Australia must be able to demonstrate that they are settled and usually resident in Australia. For an explanation of the BoF, refer to the Department's website <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/visas/getting-a-visa/visa-listing/contributory-aged-parent-864/balance-of-family-test>
- A sponsor for a relative applying for an Aged Dependent Relative visa must be able to demonstrate that for a reasonable period (usually 3 years) their relative has been wholly or substantially dependent on them for basic needs of food, shelter and clothing; or that their aged relative is dependent upon them because the relative has a disability that prevents them from working.
- A person (or their partner on their behalf) who has previously been granted a Preferential Family (Class AY) subclass 104 visa, Family (Class AG/AO/AS) subclass 806 visa, Other Family (Class BO) subclass 115 (Remaining Relative) visa or Other Family (Class BU) subclass 835 (Remaining Relative) visa cannot sponsor an applicant for a Remaining Relative visa.
- A person (or their partner on their behalf) who has previously sponsored or nominated a successful applicant for a Preferential Family (Class AY) subclass 104 visa, Family (Class AG/AO/AS) subclass 806 visa, Other Family (Class BO) subclass 115 (Remaining Relative) visa or Other Family (Class BU) subclass 835 (Remaining Relative) visa cannot sponsor another person for a Remaining Relative visa.
- A person cannot be sponsored for a Carer visa to provide general family support.

Settled

'Settled' (in relation to an Australian citizen, an Australian permanent resident or an eligible New Zealand citizen) means lawfully resident in Australia for a reasonable period. Under policy, the 'reasonable period' is at least 2 years. Periods of lawful temporary residence may be counted towards the 'settled' requirement, depending on the circumstances of that temporary residence. The 'settled' requirement is assessed at the time the visa application is lodged.

However, when assessing whether or not a person is settled, regard is given to the facts of each case. For example, a shorter period of lawful residence (at least 3 months) may be considered for Australian citizens for sponsorship purposes if:

- there are compassionate and compelling circumstances; or
- the Australian citizen, having resided overseas for a lengthy period, has returned to Australia and wishes to sponsor family members.

Temporary absence from Australia would not necessarily preclude a person from meeting the requirement to be settled. However, the person must be able to demonstrate that the absence was/is temporary and that they have maintained their residence in Australia.

Usually resident

The place that a person is 'usually resident' is determined taking into account their physical residence (where they ordinarily eat, sleep and have a home) and the person's intention to make that place their home. Temporary absence from Australia would not necessarily preclude a person from meeting the requirement to be usually resident.

Sponsorship obligations

Sponsors of applicants for permanent visas are obliged to assist the applicant with accommodation and financial assistance as the Australian community has a general expectation that non-citizens should not become a burden on the wider community. The Department will make an assessment regarding:

- the financial and employment standing of the sponsor and/or partner; and
- the availability and adequacy of the accommodation and the sponsor's ability to assist the sponsored persons financially if that were to become necessary.

If the Department assesses that the sponsor's obligations cannot be met, then the sponsorship cannot be approved.

Sponsorship undertaking

As part of their sponsorship obligations, a sponsor must sign a sponsorship undertaking at Part L – Your sponsorship undertaking. It is very important that sponsors understand that they are expected to provide adequate accommodation and financial assistance as required to meet their relative's reasonable living needs from the date of their arrival in Australia if the relatives are not in a position to support themselves and their immediate family members from their own resources.

Sponsors should consider not only the Visa Application Charges, the Assurance of Support (AoS) and their sponsorship obligations, but also the ongoing longer term impact and cost of sponsoring a person to migrate and of supporting them. Sponsors should discuss the impact of sponsorship on their family and think carefully about whether they are able and willing to provide this support before they undertake the sponsorship. Sponsors should also talk to their relatives about the costs of living in Australia and work out how much assistance they might need.

Assurance of Support

An Assurance of Support (AoS) is a legal commitment by a person to repay to the Australian Government certain recoverable welfare payments, including unemployment benefits and family payments made by Services Australia to those covered by the assurance.

An AoS is a mandatory requirement for all visas covered by this sponsorship form except for carer and temporary Contributory Parent Category visas. The AoS is a two-stage process requiring assurers to lodge an AoS form and payment of an AoS bond. An AoS bond is payable to and managed by Services Australia.

Services Australia assesses and approves the assurer. The sponsor of the visa applicant is not required to act as the assurer. Generally a person who has received the full rate of any pension, benefit or allowance (other than family payments) from Services Australia during the last year will not qualify as an assurer.

Another person who is an Australian citizen or permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen who is usually resident in Australia aged 18 years or over can act as the assurer. A joint AoS can be undertaken by up to 3 persons.

The AoS commences when the overseas migrant first arrives in Australia (after the permanent visa is granted) or when the permanent visa is granted for an applicant applying from within Australia. The AoS period lasts for up to 4 years after the start date for all visas covered in this form except for permanent Contributory Parent Category visas, where it lasts for 10 years. For a full list of welfare payments that must be repaid to the Australian Government, please refer to the Services Australia website

<https://www.servicessaustralia.gov.au/>

For more information about the AoS scheme, including applications and procedures, refer to Services Australia's website above or contact Services Australia on 132 850 from within Australia or 61 3 6222 3455 from outside Australia.

Waiting period for social security payments

All migrants have to be in Australia for 10 years as a permanent resident before they are eligible to apply for an Australian aged or disability pension.

Certain parent visa applicants who are in Australia may have many years to wait for a visa to be granted and, during this time, they may need to rely on the sponsor for support. The visa class selected may require some long-term financial planning by both the sponsor and their relative.

Sponsors should be aware that any visa applicant who is in Australia and comes from a country that does not have a reciprocal health care agreement with Australia may not be covered by Medicare and they will need to take out private health or travel insurance.

What documents do you need?

For all visas covered by this form, a sponsor will need to provide proof of their relationship to their relative. They will also need to send evidence of their Australian citizenship or permanent resident status in Australia or proof that they are an eligible New Zealand citizen. An Australian citizen will need to send a certified true copy of their citizenship certificate or, if Australian-born, a full certified copy of their birth certificate. Also such evidence may be official documents to establish age and family relationships, for instance:

- birth certificates (showing full names of parents);
- marriage certificates;
- death certificates; or
- adoption certificates.

Assessment of the sponsor's ability to fulfil the sponsorship undertaking will take place as part of the assessment of the application and sponsors may be asked to provide documentation covering:

- their latest income tax assessment;
- their current pay slips or other satisfactory evidence of alternative income;
- evidence of major assets, including bank or similar accounts, details of real estate/motor vehicle ownership;
- confirmation of liabilities, such as mortgage repayments, rent, hire purchase, credit card repayments etc; and
- any other evidence that may help to establish their ability to meet their undertaking.

The sponsor may be asked to submit evidence of their being settled and usually resident in Australia. This information may include:

- the length of that residence and the amount of time spent in Australia;
- proof of having a settled home in Australia;
- ownership of a home, business or other investments, social network.

Copies of documents may be provided if they are certified as true copies of the original by a Justice of the Peace, Commissioner for Declarations or a person authorised to witness statutory declarations.

A Carer visa application cannot be accepted by the Department unless the application includes the required certificate from Bupa Medical Visa Services, or a letter from them is submitted acknowledging that the medical assessment has commenced. For more information, refer to the Department's website www.homeaffairs.gov.au

How to lodge a sponsorship application

It is a requirement that the sponsorship form is provided to the Department at the same time the visa application is lodged. If the person being sponsored is lodging the visa application, then send this form to them and tell them that it is important that this form, the visa application form and the required Visa Application Charge (or evidence that it has been paid in Australia) be submitted together.

Visa applicants who are lodging applications for an offshore visa are encouraged to forward all documentation to the sponsor for them to send it to the Perth Visa Centre by mail or by courier.

Warning: Parent, Aged Dependent Relative, Remaining Relative and Carer visa applications can not be lodged in person.

Important information about privacy

The Privacy Act 1988 contains 13 Australian Privacy Principles which regulate the way that the Department collects and handles personal information. What is immigration assistance?

A person gives immigration assistance if he or she uses, or purports to use, his or her knowledge or experience in migration procedure to assist a person with matters related under the Migration Act 1958.

The most common times assistance is provided is during visa application processes, visa cancellation processes or sponsorship processes (including monitoring or sanctions).

Note: Immigration assistance does not include simply filling in an application form, translating or interpreting or passing on information about an application without comment or explanation.

Registered migration agents

A registered migration agent is a person who is registered with the Office of the Migration Agents Registration Authority (OMARA) to provide immigration assistance.

If operating in Australia, migration agents must be registered with the OMARA.

Information on registered migration agents, including how to find one, is available on the OMARA website

www.mara.gov.au

Legal practitioners

A legal practitioner is a lawyer who holds an Australian legal practising certificate (whether restricted or unrestricted) granted under a law of an Australian state or territory.

Legal practitioners can provide immigration assistance in connection with legal practice.

Information on legal practitioners, including how to find one, is available on the Law Council of Australia website.

Information on legal practitioners can also be sought from the relevant state or territory legal professional bodies.

Exempt persons

The following people do not have to be a registered migration agent or legal practitioner in order to provide immigration assistance:

- a close family member (spouse, child, adopted child, parent, brother or sister of a visa applicant);
- a sponsor or nominator for a visa applicant;
- a member of parliament or their staff;
- a member of a diplomatic mission, consular post or international organisation.

An exempt person must not charge a fee for their assistance. In Australia, if they do charge a fee they are committing an offence and penalties of up to 10 years jail can apply.

Appointing a registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person

To appoint a registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person you should complete Part K – Options for receiving written communications.

Your registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person should complete form 956 Appointment of a registered migration agent, legal practitioner or exempt person.

Form 956 is available from the Department's website www.homeaffairs.gov.au/allforms/

Options for receiving written communications

If you do not appoint a migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person you may still authorise another person, in writing, to receive written communications on your behalf. This person is called the authorised recipient.

Authorised recipient information

All written communication about your application will be sent to your authorised recipient, unless you indicate that you wish to have health and/or character information sent directly to you.

The Department will communicate with the most recently appointed authorised recipient as you may only appoint one authorised recipient at any time for a particular application.

You will be taken to have received any documents sent to that person as if they had been sent to you.

To appoint an authorised recipient you should complete:

- Part K – Options for receiving written communications; and
- form 956A Appointment or withdrawal of an authorised recipient.

Note: Migration agents/legal practitioners/exempt persons do not need to complete form 956A.

Consent to communicate electronically

The Department may use a range of means to communicate with you. However, electronic means such as fax or email will only be used if you indicate your agreement to receiving communication in this way.

To process your application the Department may need to communicate with you about sensitive information, for example, health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. Electronic communications, unless adequately encrypted, are not secure and may be viewed by others or interfered with.

If you agree to the Department communicating with you by electronic means, the details you provide will only be used by the Department for the purpose for which you have provided them, unless there is a legal obligation or necessity to use them for another purpose, or you have consented to use for another purpose. They will not be added to any mailing list.

The Australian Government accepts no responsibility for the security or integrity of any information sent to the Department over the internet or by other electronic means.

If you authorise another person to receive documents on your behalf and they wish to be contacted electronically, their signature is required on form 956 or 956A to indicate their consent to this form of communication.
